FACTS ABOUT YOUNG MEN.

HOW MANY PASS THEIR TIME.

Figures on the Subject Carefully Prepared, A Summary of the Work for the Coming Year at the Y. M. C. A.

Secretary Alexander Candlish has just issued a new prospectus in pamphlet form with reference to the next season and the attraction which will be offered at the Association building. The prospectus is handsomely gotten up and contains a great deal of valuable information.

In the preface Mr. Candlish makes the following statement :

"To those who question the need of such an organization as the Young Men's Christian Association and would affirm that there is not work enough for it to do I would refer the following figures: Of the 13.000,000 young men of this country 15 per cent, do not attend church, 30 per cent, do not belong to church, 35 per cent, do nothing for the church; of our incarcerated criminals 79 per cent, are young men; nearly 30 per cent of all crimes are committed by young men, and 85 per cent, of the patrons of saloons and similar places are young men.

ar places are young men.
Think over the above carefully and ask yourself if you are doing by example what you can to assist the young men of Rich-mond to form characters that will be an nonor in this life and a joy in the life to

"WOEDS OF GOOD MEN," The good work carried on by the Associa-tion is appreciated by all who are familiar with the same. Mayor Ellyson expresses himself as follows on the subject:

"I have been actively identified with the work or the Young Men's Christian Association in Richmond for over sixteen years, and I have enjoyed opportunities of knowing its work. I am fully pursuaded that it has a complished much for the physical and sportual benefit of the young men of Richmond. As a business man and a citizen I artily indorse the work of our home Asso-

hee, James Y. Fair, of Grace-street Presbyeran church says: "I have found it very helpful in my work, and I regard it as a most important auxiliary to the Church. I sinoerely re-oice in the recent impulse which has been given to the work, and I pray that it may deepen and widen until all the young men of our city are brought under its influence."

Rev. W. V. Tudor, D. D., pastor of Broadstreet Methodist church, expresses the following opinion. "I certainly regard the Young Men's Christian Association as an effective arm of Christian service. It has come to be wellnigh indispensable. The Church and the Christian community would feel as though an arm had been lost if the justitution were to become extinct, which, of course, is not to be thought of."

Rev. R. P. Kerr, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church, says. "The work of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city has hever been more useful and prosperous. Incalculable good is being done in saving and developing young men. The Association is not an institution outside, but within the bosom of the Church of God, and deserving of the heartiest support from all Christians."

Rev. John K. Mason, D. D., rector of St. James church, says: "My work in St. James church has prevented my knowing and seeing as much of the working of the Young Men's Christian Association as I would desire. However, from what I have seen, I can safely—and do most cheerfully—testify to the great good being done by the Association for the young men of our city, and I heartily commend it to the kind interest and consid-Mr. William Ellyson, a former president of street.

the Association, has the following to say: believe in the Young Men's Christian Association of Richmond for two reasons—first, because it is the best school in our city, so far as I am advised, for training young men how to do personal work for our Master; second, because it is the only public place in our city open day and night where young men can find comfortable quarters and appliances for social, mental, physical and religious enjoyment free from all baneful influences. My relations with the Young Men's Christian Association have been such that we Christian Association have been such that we have had every opportunity for testing the character of its work, and I cheerfully suggest these reasons though others might be given, why this institution should receive the moral and financial support of all our citizens."

FIRGINIA AUTHORS'

Exhibit at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago,

The Board of World's Fair managers of Virginia invite for their exhibit at Chicago contributions from all sources of the works of all authors, living or dead, who were natives or residents of Virginia.

Pamphiets and magazine articles as well as bound volumes will be received and exhibited. The literature of America has been greatly enriched by the labors of Virginians, especially in the political, legal, historical, theological and scientific departments, and it is particularly desirable that the collection be made as complete and representative as posmade as complete and representative as pos-l'ublishers and dealers are asked to contribute from their current lists copies of all works by Virginian authors, and the families works by Virginian authors, and translated and friends of deceased authors as well as booksellers and all patriotic persons interested in thus setting forth the State's glory are invited to contribute rare, out of print, or

At the close of the Exposition it is proposed to deposit the entire collection in the State Library. The following brief list of books already contributed and now on exhibition at the office of the Board shows that a start at the office of the Board shows that a start at least has been made in this good work. Many more volumes have been promised, and it is desired that all contributions be forwarded as promptly as possible to T. C. ### THE FIRST LEAGUE GAME.

SPIDERS AND GIANTS CONTENDING.

All Was Serene at First, But the Spectators Soon Saw That the City Team Had the Game_A Good Crowd.

R. JOSEPH TAY-LOR, whose alma mater is the Richmond College, and who spends his spare time between the study of medicine and in-curves, went into the pitcher's-box yesterday afternoon at Island Park, clad in white trousers, a clay-bedecked shirt, a sardonic smile and a sunset-red stockings. spite this Mardi Gras costume, which made a striking appearance on the Apollo-like figure of Mr. Taylor, he was pounded all over the field, and had given to his friends, the Vir-ginias, ten base-hits before he retired from ginias, ten base-hits before he retired from the box.

The game was between the College team, from Lee district, and the Virginia team, from Richmond, and began the series which is to be played by the Tri-City League, a club from Forest Hill being the other team to contest for honors. Four hundred well-disposed citizens witnessed the contest, and 399 of them realized before the sixth inning was reached that the students were entirely out of it. They will have to play better ball if they intend making any sort of a fight for the pennant and the prize, and their for the pennant and the prize, and their pitcher must do something to rid himself of that "glass arm." If he and Buck Ewing and McGuire are going to lay themselves on the shelf, what in the name of all that's good will become of base-ball.?

PRONE TO ERR.

Then, too, Harrison, of the College team, is prone to err. He showed his ability in that direction while the sun shone in his face in direction while the sun shone in his face in centre field. He was changed to short stop. There two brilliant fumbles were about all he did, and it was finally decided to place him on the third bag. He still kept up his reputation, and one time threw the ball with the seeming idea that the home plate was somewhere about the middle of the grand stand. Harrison's playing and that of Billy Nash's is different. Their methods are not the same.

All of the collegiate individuals, however.

All of the collegiate individuals, however, with two exceptions, seemed to vie with each other in errors, and some of them received the same number of base-hits as they did errors. same number of base-hits as they did errors.

When Burnett went into the box in the seventh the hits of the Virginias were considerably lessened, but the score was too much in favor of the Giants for any interest to be taken in the game, and the spectators sat and watched, only hoping that by some possibility of the national game the college men would make a spurt and even up the score.

THE SPIDERS, It was not until the fifth inning that the College Spiders sent a man across the homeplate Burnett made a drive to centre for a single, stole second and scored on a homerun by Sydstole second and scored on a homerun by Sydnor, who sailed the sphere over left-field ience. Ellyson knocked a foul to Leftwich, and Matthews, as usual, received his base on balls. On a passed bail he went to second. A hit by Phillips gave him third: Phillips stole second and Frank Duke fouled out to Leftwich. Harrison hit to West, and Matthews ended his career at home. West throwing a beautiful ball to Leftwich. Phillips was left on second and Harrison at first. n second and Harrison at first.

In the eighth the Spiders made another spurt, but only one man scored. Harrison went out at first, Taylor fouled out to Leftwent out at first, lay,or found out to helt-wich, and W. Duke went to first on a rather excusable fumble by West. On Burnett's hit he went to second, and on a forced hit by Sydnor he puffed up to third. A wild throw by Leitwich to Applegate sent Duke across the plate. Ellyson ended the inning by strik-

The first two innings of the game were splendidly played and every one anticipated witnessing a beautiful game of ball. The third and fourth innings settled matters, however for twelve men crossed the plate for the Grants. With them in three innings it was a continual banging of the ball and seri-ous errors for the Spiders, seven hits being made in the second inning and about five errors. Four runs in the it ters beyond question and the five runs that drifted in in the innings afterwards were hardly noticed by the wearied spectators. The score was as follows:

It is painful to record the fact that there are people, even in conservative Richmond, where there is a church on almost every block, that prefer to keep their places of business open on Sunday to joining in the hymn-singing and other devotional exercises. It was proven that the watch and other things were in Mr. Ford's vest, which was on a mantel in a tack room to a new house that was being built at Barton Heights. And, lo Daniel had been in the house. It was thought that a colored man had stole the property, and behold Daniel had dark skin. ## Eleven Million in Bonds.

The Second Auditor has up to the present time received about eleven million dollars worth of bonds from the New York commit-tee. They arrive here at the rate of three tee. They arrive here at the rate of three packages a day. Over one million dollars' worth were received on Friday, but they are disposed of by the clerks as fast as they come in. Up to the present time the bonds have all been of the $1,000 denomination, but there are a good many $300 and $100 cnes out, and when they are sent in the aggregate amount will of course be much smaller.

Mr. Ryland is expecting every day the bids for the printing of the new bonds from the three bank note companies in New York city. Some time ago he sent them proposals with pictures of the Governor, Lee monument, Jackson monument, etc., to make selections from for the design which is to adorn the bonds.

JULY REDUCTION SALE?

Small prices, after all, do not depend on GREAT HOWLS any more than on the extravagance of the bills that go to the newspaper people. All or nearly all the merchandise is on the brink of a precipice from whence they are liable to be precipitated. The only question is NOW WILLINGLY, or in the months to come, unwillingly. It's to know how to make a loss profitable. A sale in July loses thousands of dollars to us directly, and makes thousands in the clearance of the stock. India
